

The Camargue is a large wetland in the Rhône delta. It is exceptionally diverse in its flora and fauna, its scenery and the culture of Provence in all its historical grandeur.

Whether you are interested in nature or in the traditions of the Camargue, we can give you the information you need to appreciate the park, bearing in mind its vulnerability.

Visiting museums or natural features, between the sea and the pools, on foot or on horseback, following the tourist routes or relaxing on the beach - you can organise your visit according to your preferences, while also respecting the quality of your surroundings.

Park rules

You are in a Regional nature park

Remove your trash !

- ▶ Respect the dunes.
- ▶ Stay on the trail, do not enter private property.
- ▶ No fires or barbecues.
- ▶ No loud noises.
- ▶ Park only in designated areas.
- ▶ Dogs must remain leashed.
- ▶ In summer time, don't forget sunscreen, water and mosquito repellent.

Professionals commit to sustainable tourism in the Camargue with the « Valeurs Parc naturel régional » brand

Owned by the Ministry of the Environment, « Valeurs Parc naturel régional » is a brand to help foster sustainable development in local areas. It promotes local products and human-scale tourist businesses, local economy players who respect the specific features of the area and its environment.

Cultivated land

20% of the Camargue is used to grow rice. The water taken from the Rhône for this purpose desalinates the soil to a certain depth, and the rice fields are also home to nesting birds such as the heron. They are flooded in April and allowed to dry out in September for the harvest.

Freshwater marshes and reed beds

These are common in the upper Camargue and on the banks of the Rhône. Water plants such as bullrushes, cane and reeds are abundant in the marshes, which are used for hunting and, in summer, pasturage. They provide shelter for nesting and wintering birds. Reeds (« sagno », in Provençal) are cut in winter by the « sagneurs ». They are used as a roofing material.

The salt plains (« sansouires ») and meadowlands

Salt plains are a feature of the lower Camargue. Their salt content is so high that only a few plant species such as glasswort, saltwort, obione and static can survive there. They are prone to periodic flooding, and in summer are marked by white traces due to the presence of salt. Meadowland occupies only small, fragmented areas in which the effects of salt are less obvious.

The salt ponds

These are to be found along the sea. In reality they are lagoons that have been adapted to maximise their salt concentration. The salt ponds are extensive and rich in invertebrates, which makes them an important source of food for birds, and in particular the flamingos, which spend most of their time there.

The ponds and lagoons

The shallow ponds of the lower Camargue are separated from the sea by a sandbar. They are more or less salty, and communicate with the sea via sluice gates. They provide a refuge for birds and fish, and play a major role in water management.

The beaches and dunes

The Camargue has some 50 km of beaches. Outside the perimeter of the protective dykes - and thus subject to the caprices of the sea - the coastline is in a permanent state of change. The dunes are inhabited by spectacular flowering plants and a number of rare insects.

Parc naturel régional

de Camargue

The Park of Camargue offers a large diversity of landscapes : beaches, reedbeds, rice and wheat fields, ponds and the Mediterranean Sea. The delta of the Camargue is one of the richest ecosystems of Western Europe, created by the confluence between the Rhône river and the Mediterranean sea.

The Park is one of the principal migratory stopovers for birds migrating from Northern Europe to Africa. The biodiversity here is incredible, especially the fauna : flamingos, bulls, horses, european bee-eaters, slender-billed gulls, sea swallows, heron, beaver, and the black-winged stilt.

The Camargue is full of contrasts and its changing nuances occur hourly and throughout the seasons. There will always be a surprise for the visitor. We wish you a very good trip in the Camargue. Enjoy it !

Some of the Camargue's animals

Pond turtle (Emys orbicularis)

dragonfly (Lestes macrostigma)

Black-winged stilt (Himantopus himantopus)

Guépier d'Europe (Merops apiaster)

Some of the Camargue's plants to admire, but not touch

Sea daffodil (Pancratium maritimum)

Chardon des sables (Eryngium maritimum)

Sea lavender (Limonium narbonense)

Annual Saltwort (Salicornia annual)

What is a Regional Nature Park ?

- A regional natural park is both :
- A inhabited rural territory recognized for its strong heritage and landscape value, open to all but whose fragile balance requires the greatest respect ;
 - a public institution of consultation between the authorities, the local people and the economic decision-makers. Its remit is to reconcile human development and nature conservation.

- Like the other 55 regional natural parks in France, the Camargue Regional Natural Park mobilizes a multidisciplinary team that works as well :
- Protection and enhancement of the natural and cultural heritage ;
 - Land use planning ;
 - Economic, social and cultural development ;
 - Reception and public awareness of wealth and heritage fragility ;
 - Experimentation and research for the development of new environmentally sound practices.

The Park in numbers

- Three towns
> Arles
> Les Saintes-Maries-de-la-Mer
> Port-Saint-Louis-du-Rhône
- Animal and plant species (not including invertebrates) : 1 100 of which 489 are protected, either nationally or worldwide
- Population : 10 848 inhabitants
- Area : 101 200 hectares
- Coastline : 75 k, Highest point 4 metres above sea level !
- Migrating birds : 150 000 each year. Three quarters of France's bird species, half of its freshwater fish species and a quarter of its plant species are to be found in the Camargue !

Discovering the natural and cultural heritage of the Camargue

1 Musée de la Camargue

To discover the Park, start by visiting the Museum of Camargue. You will learn of the special relationship between the inhabitants and nature through objects, images and videos. The Tadashi Kawamata observatory is the beginning of a 3,5 km trail where you will encounter a variety of landscapes.

Biosphere Reserve

Since 1977, the Camargue has been designated by UNESCO as a « Biosphere Reserve » covering the whole biogeographical delta of the Rhône. This designation involves the setting up of a sustainable development project whose results are assessed every 10 years. The project concerns the conservation of natural areas, support for human activities in harmony with the environment, including sustainable tourism, and also backs research and awareness-raising about the Camargue's exceptional biodiversity.
